I imagine that music is colors and shapes that blend together like a smoothie. I have always wanted to be a singer but in my own way. I want to sing about things that are important to me. I imagine that a whole note is the color pink and a circle. I imagine that a half note is a green star. I like to let my imagination run wild and have a mind of its own to be different to be a song that continues to play over and over again. I love music it is an inspiration to me. Music helps me do my day-to-day activities. I imagine that I could sing my favorite song on stage in front of thousands of people. I imagine that notes on a staff are words that flow along and speak to me. I imagine that if I could change one person's life it would be through music. I also imagine that when music plays I can just float away and sing.
